

Our behaviour individually and collectively is critical in how we get things done. We know that if we want to deliver our Plan on a Page effectively and treat people well, in our communities, with our partners and in our organisation, we need to be explicit about the behaviours we expect of people at all levels. Yet there are times when our behaviour and the way we act does not demonstrate this. To ensure we act consistently together we developed the ROCU Behaviours Framework.

Its Purpose?

To help everyone clearly understand what is expected of them in terms of how they behave. When we have a common understanding of the expectations of all ROCU officers and staff then we can support people to develop these skills and manage performance against these expectations. When we know what to expect of ourselves and others we can speak up when it is not visible and reinforce it when it is. This is the only way we will achieve an inclusive culture built on trust and deliver our Plan on a Page effectively.

Being a diverse and inclusive organisation requires us to 'open' our minds to others. If we are open to others, we cre ate relationships based on trust and this enables us to work as 6 forces as 1 team in 1 way – The ROCU Way. The framework sets out the standards and values we expect everyone to believe in, understand and demonstrate in line with our Code of Ethics and Standards of Behaviour. Demonstrating these behaviours ensures we inspire the communities we serve and deliver the best possible service.

The behaviours associated with each principle are simplified using 3 broad bands:

- Level 1 Role Model for Our Standards and Values
- Level 2 Leading Others
- Level 3 Leading Capability or Strategy

Each band identifies the behaviours expected for creating a diverse and inclusive organisation based on trust and in line with the ROCU Behaviour Framework so we can deliver our Plan on a Page.

Everyone is expected to demonstrate Level 1 - Role Model for our Standards and Values Those who lead teams will be expected to demonstrate Level 2 - Leading Others as well as Level 1 Those who lead a department or strategy will be expected to demonstrate Level 3 - Leading Capability or Strategy.

Level 1 - A Role Model for our Standards & Values

I am known as a role model. People talk about the good things I have done. People want to work with me.

LEADERSHIP	INCLUSIVE & ENGENDER TRUST	MAKE DECISIONS	COMMUNICATE	COLLABORATE	CHANGE & INNOVATE
I demonstrate leadership, taking accountability for my own performance and my part in the team. I have pride: • in my work & environ- ment • attitude & behaviour • appearance • honouring commit- ments I accept responsibility for my job and behaviour, consistently delivering the results and behaviours expected of me I am capable, having the knowledge, skills and behaviour to do my job (or I have a plan to work towards this)	 I accept the role I play in creating and envi- ronment for everyone to thrive. I am honest, talking straight, but sensitive to the feelings of others so people trust me I am inquisitive, open and curious exploring and understanding oth- er's views and ideas. I recognise and man- age emotions. I am emotionally aware, displaying empathy and able to remain com- posed around differ- ences. I am reliable – I do what I say I am going to do 	I make decisions and solve problems in our role, developing confidence I push for data using all that is available to increase objectivity. I critically analyse prob- lems, getting to route cause by involving the right people, using all available data and my experience. I am prepared to take a risk, comfortable with my analysis, so know- ing I will be supported even if I get it wrong. I am confident and de- cisive making decisions and taking action for my role	 I proactively share information and listen, acutely aware how critical this is to our team success I actively listen, focusing on understanding before speaking. I demonstrate care and respect for others through the interest and sensitivity I show. I focus on ensuring I am approachable through all forms of communication. I share knowledge and information without being prompted, raising awareness and assisting others so they are more effective 	 I know how to work together well I build relationships as part of my role – listening, helping and involving others including those who are different to me. I have a win-win mindset when working with others, committed to one ROCU and the wider goals. I explore differences, accepting challenge knowing it may be uncomfortable, yet necessary for better results. I acknowledge other's contribution, and ask and give feedback to improve mine and the team's effectiveness 	 I accept things change. Pursuing better ways to fight serious & organised crime and thrive at work I accept things change and I am optimistic and supportive when I understand why. I am proactive in looking at how I can improve the effective- ness of my role and get support for my ideas. I am flexible, able to tolerate ambiguity and adapt to different ways of working and different people.

Level 2 - Leading Others

I am passionate about leading people and give this the time and energy to do it well. I recognise I deliver results by leading others, and this IS my job.

T THE DIRECTION AND PLAN	H HELP	R REMOVE OBSTACLES	INSPIRE	V VISABILITY	E EMPOWER
I am proactive, setting out clear direction and agreeing plans with the team; people are engaged in what we are doing. I am confident and decisive in my own area; this gives my team confidence and other departments want to work with us. I create teams that are truly diverse, implementing practices that drive this and remove excuses. I don't accept work done in isolation and challenge self interest.	I clarify role expectations and communicate stand- ards and outcomes so people can get on and deliver. I encourage a learning mindset by regular informal reviews. People see the benefit of this approach as they can speak freely and own their improvements.	I build trust by giving peo- ple autonomy and focusing on removing blockers to delivery rather than taking over. I spend time planning and organising my role - using data & feedback to review progress, ensuring I have the skills to deliver. I can focus on the priorities & adjust and communicate changes.	I manage performance; people are aware of how I see their performance (strengths and improve- ments) and I am aware of what they need from me. My team is happy; they trust me to manage perfor- mance fairly. I invest time to talk and build collaborative rela- tionships for my team and me. I ensure I understand other's priorities and don't duplicate effort; working together and not in silos. I demonstrate humility - recognising I don't know everything, being prepared to ask for help and apolo- gising when necessary.	 I am a skilled listener, so: I ask open questions & know when to stop talking In groups I encourage conversations between people rather than just getting my point across In my meetings all opinions are listened to, ideas are not ignored, and people feel good about their contribution. I respect everyone and my listening demonstrates this, so: my positive interac- tions develop trust & everyone feels included I regularly reflect on what it feels like to have an interaction with me. I consistently demonstrate that I am prepared to have conversations on diffi- cult topics, and I actively support those who show courage to challenge. 	 I am optimistic and energetic, challenging change so we get it right and then owning it (even if it's not my idea), so our people trust us and are secure in what we are doing I act on my emotional intelligence to create inclusive teams: I understand people's perception of me & the impact this has I work hard to understand the needs, feelings, and responses of others
